Welcome to our celebration of excellence for faculty and staff in the Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering. This annual event offers an opportunity to celebrate the achievements and service of many of our colleagues. There are many more people who will not be singled out in this celebration who nonetheless work tirelessly on behalf of our Schools and Arizona State University. It is through these collective efforts that we can provide a distinctive engineering school, one that serves Phoenix, Arizona, the region and our profession.

Thank you for all that you do—every day—to support our students, enhance our learning environment and improve the human condition through countless research endeavors.

Jankowski Award

The Daniel Jankowski Legacy Award recognizes engineering faculty whose exemplary contributions in teaching, research and public service have had a long-standing, demonstrated impact on advancing the mission of the Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering. The award was established in 2001 to honor the distinguished academic career of Jankowski, who was a professor in the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences (now the Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering) for 40 years until his retirement in 2004. He was associate dean of academic affairs for six years, leaving the position in 2001. He served as interim dean of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences for one year.

Consistent with Jankowski’s own philosophy, the award places a particular emphasis on strong academic commitment including student support, quality instruction and program development.

Given every two years, the award comes with a $2,000 prize.

RECENT RECIPIENTS

James Adams (2009) President’s Professor, School for Engineering of Matter, Transport and Energy
Joseph Palais (2007) Professor, School of Electrical, Computer and Energy Engineering
