

Biomimicry for faculty Workshop

This workshop is offered by the Biomimicry Center in partnership with Biomimicry 3.8 for all disciplines across campus.

Over the course of three days, we will introduce participants to biomimicry with the express intention of encouraging the incorporation of biomimicry into course content and research initiatives. Participants will immerse themselves into the tools of biomimicry: Biomimicry Thinking and Life's Principles, both by practicing applying the tools as well as engaging in specific learning activities that can be adapted to your own courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Dates

Thursday, April 6th: Start at 5:00pm

Friday, April 7th: 9:00am to 5:00pm

Saturday, April 8th: 9:00am to 3:00pm

Location

Sonoran Desert Inn and Conference Center

55 Orilla Ave., Ajo, AZ

Near the Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument

Register by March 15

Please email Roxann Gonzales at Roxann.Gonzales@asu.edu or call her at (480) 727-8853 to register. The Biomimicry Center will cover costs of lodging and boarding for all participants.

Contact

Please reach out to us with any questions about the workshop:

Dayna Baumeister, Co-Director, dayna.baumeister@asu.edu

Prasad Boradkar, Co-Director, prasad.boradkar@asu.edu

