Racism is Not New: Tackling Systemic Racism in 2020

Thursday, July 9, 2020
1:00PM-2:30PM via ZOOM

Recent tragedies have brought increased awareness to issues of systemic racism in our nation today. But racism is not new -- which calls for greater understanding of history and identifying approaches to tackle racism.

The ASU Committee for Campus Inclusion invites you to join us for the first of a series of important dialogues on systemic racism. Through a moderated panel discussion, we will highlight the history of racism in America, what it looks like today, the role of anti-racism, and what we can do as members of the ASU community to tackle systemic racism.

Panelists*:

- Dr. Bryan Brayboy, President's Professor and Director, Center for Indian Education
- Dr. Stanlie James, Vice Provost, Inclusion and Community Engagement
- Dr. Mako Ward, Clinical Assistant Professor and Faculty Head, African and African American Studies, School of Social Transformation

Moderator:

Dr. Cassandra Aska, Deputy Vice President and Dean of Students
University Chair of Committee for Campus Inclusion

Registration is required
