Placing Seeds for Partnerships and Cultivating Community Collaborations
Guidance and Suggestions for Designing Your Presentation Proposal

2021 ASU Social Embeddedness Network Conference
Over the course of two days, we will begin each day with an opening plenary session and various breakout sessions afterward centered around the categories/topics below. Each day will conclude with an optional opportunity to network with other socially-embedded professionals or those interested in exchanging ideas in the field of community engagement and public service. Visit the 2021 ASU Social Embeddedness Network Conference website to learn more.

The ASU Social Embeddedness Network Conference is a virtual convening with attendees from various walks of life seeking an opportunity to connect with other community engagement professions who believe in the power of collaboration. How will your session highlight and recognize the knowledge, expertise and experience of partners through storytelling?

Session Types

Lightning Talk (~10 min)
- ★ 1-2 speakers sharing knowledge
- ★ A short presentation that focuses on a best practice, idea and/or new way of thinking about community-university partnerships
- ★ Demonstrates how we can collaborate to achieve local, regional, national and/or global change.

Community Collaboration (45 min)
- ★ Features at least one community partner as a co-presenter with at least one university collaborator
- ★ An opportunity to share the story of your ongoing social embeddedness work, research or insights about how community partnerships are essential
- ★ Demonstrates how we can collaborate to achieve local, regional, national and/or global change.

We encourage you to lean into the conference theme and tracks of gardening, growth and spring. This event is an opportunity for a change of (virtual) scenery to exchange information, learn from each other, connect with others and amplify the work we do together. Have fun and get creative!

Submit your proposal to present here.

Questions?
Email community@asu.edu or Christina Ngo, Director of Social Embeddedness at Christina.Ngo@asu.edu