

Commission on the Status of Women

Arizona State University

ASU Professional Development Conference 2024 Accepting Workshop Proposals Extended Deadline: August 7, 2024

Did you miss the deadline to submit your workshop proposal? Are you still interested in presenting at the largest university provided development conference in the nation?

You're in luck! By popular request, the ASU Commission on the Status of Women is opening the call for workshop proposal for a second round of submissions.

All proposal submissions must be received by August 7th.

The 17th annual ASU Professional Development Conference. The 2024 conference is scheduled to take place on Wed, October 23rd and Thurs, October 24th – both days online via ZOOM.

The goal of the ASU Professional Development Conference is to provide readily-accessible information, resources, and strategies to help individuals succeed in their current position and in their long-term career. The conference offers a variety of exciting variety of workshop sessions covering topics related to career development, workplace skills, leadership training, supervisory training, financial planning, sustainability, inclusion, work/life balance, among many others. Additionally, this year's conference will again feature a curated set of sessions focused on the U.S. Surgeon General's Five Essentials for Workplace Wellness. It promises to be a fantastic event with something for everyone!

Already submitted a proposal? The CSW is currently reviewing the proposals that have been submitted and you will be contacted in the next couple of weeks regarding your proposal and potentially scheduling. You can submit an additional proposal with the extended deadline.

Questions?

Contact Karen Engler-Weber, Program Director for the CSW at Karen.Engler@asu.edu